

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

GEOGRAPHICAL LITERATURE AND MAPS (INCLUDING ACCESSIONS TO THE LIBRARY)

BOOK REVIEWS AND NOTICES

(The size of books is given in inches to the nearest half inch.)

NORTH AMERICA

Au Pays des Peaux-Rouges. Six ans aux Montagnes Rocheuses. Monographies indiennes. Par P. Victor Baudot. 238 pp. Ills. Soc. Saint-Augustin, Lille, 1911. Fr. 1.50. 10 x 6½.

An amusing feature of this work is not fairly to be charged to the author. Manifestly his publisher was in possession of a stock of old wood cuts and employed them somewhat at random for illustration. Father Baudot began his six years' missionary labor in the Rocky Mountains no longer ago than 1902. He illustrates the arrival at New York with a picture of the Sixth Avenue Elevated operated with the once familiar little engines. To exhibit railroad travel there is a Pullman diner of an early epoch. The sketches of Father Baudot's service among the Indians are merely a trifle. Of greater value is a monograph on the Blackfeet translated from the Italian manuscript of Father Prando which contains some important information. A similar essay on the Cœur d'Alenes has been translated from the Italian of an anonymous priest in the "Civiltà cattolica." These two form a valuable contribution to the ethnology of the two tribes and it is a fortunate chance that has brought them together for permanent preservation where they can be accessible to students.

WILLIAM CHURCHILL.

Baltimore, Its History and Its People. By various contributors. Clayton Colman Hall, General Editor. Vol. 1: History. 721 pp. Map, index. Vol. 2: Biography. 488 pp. Vol. 3: Biography. 489-936 pp. Ills., index. Lewis Historical Publishing Co., New York, 1912. $25. 3 vols. 10 x 7.

The history of the city fills the first volume and is a useful compilation. The two other volumes are given to biographies with portraits of men who have had a part in the upbuilding of the city.

Early Days in Kansas. In Keokuk's Time on the Kansas Reservation. Being various incidents pertaining to the Keokuks, the Sac & Fox Indians, (Mississippi Band), and tales of the early settlers, life on the Kansas Reservation, located on the headwaters of the Osage River, 1846-1870. Green's Historical Series. 68 pp. Ills. Charles R. Green, Olathe, Kansas, 1913. 50 cents. 8½ x 6.

Homely and unpretentious records of pioneer days on the frontier of white settlement. A worthy addition to the chronicles of that time.

The Indians of the Terraced Houses. By Charles Francis Saunders. xx and 293 pp. Map, illus. G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, 1912. $2.50. 8½ x 5½.

So far as this book is narrative it will be read with great pleasure, for the Indians of the pueblos in New Mexico and Arizona have always possessed an interest far greater than the nomads of the prairies. In their culture we find the beginning of a social economy which exhibits the aboriginal of this land as advancing toward a higher social level. Mr. Saunders has visited all the inhabited pueblos and has given the notes of his personal impressions. He does not pretend to the careful investigation bestowed upon the sedentary Indians by Cushing and Bandelier, to mention but two in a small and distin-